

INDIANA AND MICHIGAN STATE HAPPENINGS

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS
HELPED ON BORDER

Woman in New Mexico Writes to Sister in Elkhart Telling of Conditions.

News-Times Special Service: ELKHART, May 18.—In a letter to her sister, Mrs. B. F. Stultz, 226 E. Crawford st., this city, Mrs. S. A. Rawson of Deming, N. M., gives a graphic account of conditions existing in that city, which is only 40 miles from the border.

Mrs. Rawson, who is a former resident of South Bend, Mich., is preparing to return to Michigan next week, because of the unsettled state of affairs in the border city.

In referring directly to the situation Mrs. Rawson writes: "The Home guards leave tomorrow for the border where they will stay. They are needed here. Next Friday (May 19), seven Mexican men took part in the raid at Columbus, N. M., are to be hung here in Deming. I am afraid the Mexicans here will make trouble. A vigilance committee of citizens has been appointed. The city is divided into four sections and all citizens know the call if there is any trouble anywhere. Each man has 500 rounds of ammunition and good guns to protect the people, but it is not pleasant to live where you feel unsafe."

In telling of further preparations Mrs. Rawson writes: "A number of high school boys that expected to graduate in two weeks, have gone to Columbus to help protect the border. It has not been so pleasant here as when I was here before. There are so many leaving and so much excitement all the time. If the papers published here had as big stories as they do in the north, the city would be deserted, and no one would stay on their ranches within eight, 10 and 15 miles of the city."

In its meeting here the faculty voted to recommend that students in the college of engineering who present a government certificate that they have satisfactorily completed the prescribed course of military training, requiring a five-week period during the summer of 1916, shall receive two hours of credit toward graduation, with an additional hour to those who shall have been formally reported to have qualified on or before Oct. 1, 1916, as expert riflemen.

LIKE A BOY AT 50 BUBBLING OVER WITH STRENGTH AND ENERGY
TAKING IRON DID IT

Doctor says Nuxated Iron is greatest of all strength builders. Often increases the strength and endurance of delicate, nervous folks 200 per cent in two weeks time.

NEW YORK, N. Y.—Not long ago a man came to me who was nearly half a century old and asked me to give him a preliminary examination for life insurance. I was astonished to find him with the blood pressure of a boy of 20 and as full of strength and energy as a young man; in fact a young man he really was notwithstanding his age. The secret he said was taking iron—nuxated iron. He filled him with nuxated iron. At 50 he was in bad health; at 46 careworn and nearly all in. Now at 50 a miracle of strength and energy and his face beaming with the buoyancy of youth. As I have said a hundred times over, iron is the greatest of all strength builders. It makes people would only throw away patent medicines and nauseous concoctions and take simple nuxated iron. I am convinced that the lives of thousands of persons might be saved, who now die every year from pneumonia, grippe, consumption, kidneys, liver and heart trouble. The real and true cause which started their diseases was nothing more nor less than a weakened condition brought on by lack of iron in the blood. Iron is absolutely necessary to enable the blood to carry food into living tissue. Without it, no matter how much or what you eat, your food merely passes through you without doing you any good. You don't get the strength out of it and as a consequence you become weak, pale and sickly looking just like a plant trying to grow in a soil deficient in iron. If you are not strong or well you owe it to yourself to make the following test: See how long you can work or how far you can walk without becoming tired. Next take two five-grain tablets of ordinary nuxated iron three times per day after meals for two weeks. Then test your strength

POISONOUS FUNGI CAUSES

DEATH OF TINY CHILD.

News-Times Special Service: CATHLAMET, Mich., May 18.—Marian, the two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Daugherty, a Buckley farmer, is dead, and two other children and the mother are critically ill, as the result of eating what were supposed to be mushrooms. The fungi were gathered where the family had often secured mushrooms and were eaten at supper. The youngest child became sick during the night and died in agony before a physician arrived.

CHARITY CONVENTION
BROUGHT TO CLOSE

Last Session Devoted to "Health"—Tribute Paid to State Executives.

News-Times Special Service: INDIANAPOLIS, May 18.—The 43rd annual session of the National Conference on Charities and Corrections has closed here after seven days of sectional meetings and general sessions.

The last general session was devoted to the subject of "Health." The speakers were Dr. J. R. Eastman of Indianapolis; Dr. Eugene F. Fisher of New York; L. J. Retzger of Terre Haute, and the newly elected president, Frederick Almy of Buffalo, N. Y.

Mr. Almy said he believed that good will come, though at a frightful cost, out of the European war. "After the waste of this war, human life will be too valuable to be neglected as it has been," he declared. "It has always been my belief that our present unnecessary poverty is nothing less than a reproach to religion, and thanks in part to the religious tolerance which this conference illustrates, and the social knowledge which this conference inspires and educates, the level of life will rise."

The resolutions committee report is an expression of thanks to the people of Indiana and Indianapolis and the various persons who contributed to the success of the conference, and a statement of what is characterized as the remarkable growth of social work in Indiana since the meeting of the conference here 25 years ago. The report says:

"Tribute to Governor. "The splendid accomplishments of Indiana have been due largely to the leadership of the governor and citizens who have devoted themselves to this cause and to the wisdom with which the executive officers of the board of state charities and public institutions have been selected."

"When the conference comes again to Indianapolis, in 1941, we anticipate that Indiana will have solved the difficult problem of the feeble minded, eradicated tuberculosis and venereal diseases and abolished prison contract labor."

The committee also recommended that the resolution of Miss Kate Davis of Cleveland, placing the conference on record as favoring the Owens-Keating child labor bill, now in congress, be not adopted. The delegates approve the resolution, but it is not regarded as customary for the conference "to adopt resolutions on questions of public policy."

FOREST RANGERS
TO CARRY PHONES

Patrolmen to be Equipped With New Style Portable Machines in North.

News-Times Special Service: MARIQUETTE, Mich., May 18.—Portable telephones, made of aluminum and weighing only two and one-half pounds, will be part of the regular equipment of patrolmen on the national forests of the upper peninsula the coming field season. The instrument, which is the invention of a forest officer, R. B. Adams, of Missoula, Mont., is regarded as a great improvement over the set formerly used, which weighed 10 pounds.

It is said that a field man equipped with this telephone, a few yards of light emergency wire, and a short piece of heavy wire to make the ground connections, can cut in anywhere along the more than 200,000 miles of forest service lines and get in touch with the headquarters of a supervisor or district ranger.

To talk, one end of the emergency wire is thrown over the telephone line, two ends are connected to the portable instrument, and the instrument is connected to the ground wire, the end of which must be thrust into the damp earth or in water. Contact with the line wire is made possible by removal of the insulation from a few inches of the emergency wire.

The Adams instrument does not ring the bell of the receiving telephone, but instead causes a screeching sound from a small megaphone-shaped apparatus. This instrument is installed in the ranger station telephone and is said to give effective notice that some one is on the wire. If the field man needs to talk with some one elsewhere on the line, the ranger station instrument can be used to ring up the person wanted, when the conversation can be carried on.

Forest officers say that these portable phones are especially valuable in reporting fires and other emergencies with the least possible delay, and also in sending instructions to field men and keeping the district rangers informed as to the progress of work going on in the field. They will supplement the regular telephone sets installed at lookout points, ranger stations and at convenient intervals along forest service roads and trails.

SELECT DESIGN FOR CENTENNIAL MEDAL

Miss Janet Scudder Will Do Art Work—To Sell For $1 Each.

International News Service: BIRMINGHAM, Ind., May 18.—The historical commission held a meeting and took action on two important matters: one of which was the selection of an official medal to be designated as the centennial medal of Indiana. Miss Janet Scudder, formerly of Terre Haute, now an artist of New York, will design the medal, which contains a figure of Columbus on one side, receiving the state of Indiana into the union. The medal also shows the old state capital and constitutional elm at Corydon. The special committee was instructed to order the medals at once and it is expected that they will be sold for $1 each in every county in the state.

On the reverse side of the medal is the design adopted by the commission which the legislature will likely be asked to approve as the new state seal.

GOAT TAKEN AS PAY

Ownership Changes When Animal Consumes Garden.

News-Times Special Service: FLINT, May 18.—"If you want me to pay for that garden, you can keep the goat, for I will not pay another cent for it any more. It has caused me enough trouble." This was the message Steve Rutz of Central av. received from Alexander Dumaz, who says he is "not an author and no relation to none."

Steve, who is a prosperous grocerman in the north end, was called home hurriedly by his wife, who reported that there was a strange goat in the garden, eating all the green onions. The goat was still there when Steve arrived, and he corralled it, stating that he would keep the goat until the owner paid for the damage.

FACING PAPER FAMINE

No Paper For Laws and Manufacturers Won't Fill Contracts.

News-Times Special Service: LANSING, May 18.—This state is facing a "paper famine." The state printer has no paper upon which to print the compiled laws and other books which should be issued and the manufacturers, it is said, refuse to ship paper, although it was contracted for in advance almost a year ago.

The manufacturers say that the market for paper is such that at the present time they can only handle large contracts and the state's contract, being comparatively small, is not being filled.

SUFFRAGE ASSOCIATION
MAY HAVE AMALGAMATION

Important Steps Are Taken by Joint Committee Considering Proposition.

News-Times Special Service: KOKOMO, Ind., May 18.—Important steps were taken here today looking toward the amalgamation of the Woman's Franchise league and the Equal Suffrage association of Indiana, when a committee, consisting of the state presidents of each organization and other appointed members, declared in favor of such amalgamation and decided to appoint a committee which will meet in Indianapolis on June 19 to consider plans for such a step.

Kokomo has been chosen as a meeting place of the two committees today because of the fact that it was located between the home city of Dr. Amelia R. Keller, president of the Franchise league and Logansport, the home of Mrs. Anna Dunn-Noland, president of the Equal Suffrage association.

STATE HOUSE WANTED

Rep. Cox Introduces Resolution in Congress—May Compel Its Issuance.

International News Service: INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 18.—Members of the state centennial commission are hoping that the resolution introduced in congress yesterday by Rep. W. E. Cox of the fourth Indiana district, authorizing the postmaster-general to have a stamp of the ordinary size prepared which would bear a reproduction of the old state house at Corydon and the old elm tree under which the constitution was written, will be adopted.

The resolution carries a long preamble which recites the general details of the Indiana centennial celebration and tells of the extraordinary efforts being made in Indiana to make the celebration one of historic importance. Rep. Cox tried to get the postmaster-general to order the stamp some time ago, but he refused, and now he asks congress to compel him to issue it.

CANNED GOODS WILL BE BOOSTED IN PRICE

Indiana Canners Lay Cause to War—Have Solved Ptomaine Dangers.

International News Service: INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., May 18.—Mr. ultimate consumer may get ready for another blow between the eyes. When the Indiana Canners' association met here, it was announced that prices of canned goods would be higher this year than ever. As is usual nowadays, the blame is put on the European war.

The canners also announced they would take steps to form an organization to protect the prices of canned goods. The idea is to put a standard price on certain kinds of canned goods, so that they will neither be raised nor "cut." They declare that the entrance of farmers in the canning business on a co-operative basis has made it necessary for the canners to organize to protect themselves against the farmers' cut.

Among the prominent speakers who addressed the canners was Dr. H. E. Barnard, state food and drug commissioner, who spoke this afternoon on the subject, "Canned Goods—Good Food."

"Once I brought before you the need of better sanitation," he said. "That subject, however, is now so well understood that you have no more advice from me. In many towns the cannery is the most, sometimes the only, sanitary place in the village."

"If there is any large fault in your industry today it is not so much in your methods of production as in getting your product after it is canned, to the consumer."

Ptomaine Not Feared. "In the development of his business, the canner has had an uphill fight. He has faced and downed the bugaboo of ptomaines. No one today with the slightest knowledge of chemistry can find in the contents of the tin can any fear of ptomaines. They are not caused by tin, they are not formed by processing; they cannot grow except in the presence of highly nitrogenous food. Ptomaines are a product of the family refrigerator. They lurk in half-cooled ice boxes. They find their happiest home in chicken salads, veal loaf and refrozen ice cream. No taint of ptomaine flavors the canners' pack."

"But in spite of the fact that the canner knows his product is wholesome, that his package is a whole some device, that his factories are clean and that his raw materials are sound, he has yet a long way to go in the education of the public before his can of corn, peas or tomatoes is accepted in every household as a safe, wholesome and palatable food, just as the loaf of bread from the baker, or potatoes and apples from the barrel are eaten without question. The issue must be forced. The public must be educated to the value of canned goods."

"I know Indiana canned goods to be of good quality. If we grow fruit of finer flavor and of better color; if our pack is a little more solid and cuts better, it is worth more. The phrase 'Made in Indiana' in reference to canned goods should mean something."
